Did you know – That 1% of the population have Tourette Syndrome? That it is lifelong, genetic condition? That it is made up of a range of involuntary movements, vocalisations and co-morbidities?

Learn more about Tourette syndrome in practice, how those with TS benefit from raised awareness of their condition - and how they can move forward with their lives with a cohesive set of interventions from practitioners.

Explore the methods of management, the current research, and what works for people who have TS and those working with them.

After you have attended the conference you will be able to:

- Understand the traits of Tourette syndrome and how they manifest
- Link with others who are working with TS clients
- Discover management methods and ideas for supporting those with TS

Who should attend?

This event is aimed at Health Professionals, Link Workers, Medical Practitioners, Educationalists, Criminal Justice Officers, and those with an interest in supporting the furtherance of TS management and TS knowledge. The event will run over a morning and afternoon and include a buffet lunch, breaks for tea and coffee, and break out workshop sessions. A certificate of attendance will be issued for each participant.

The programme for the day will be available shortly.
